

Friendship Lost

*Oh, what a friend that I have had,
The loss of which will make me sad.
I considered him as a brother,
A kinship felt with one another.*

*We told each other of our lives
Of good and bad, of peace and strife.
We shared each others problems close
And trusted each other more than most*

*And then one day, my secret told,
Our friendship turned to bitter cold.
A friendship I had once felt strong,
I now was told did not belong.*

*A lie was spoken, although it small,
Was large enough to ruin all.
I wish that I could talk again,
To him I still consider friend.*

*Regret now eats away my soul,
A formless void as dark as coal.
A friend, a brother, I now have lost,
Revealed my truths, but at what cost?*
